Stand with our RPD Heroes

Consider Making a Donation for the 3 RPD Officers Shot

Injured Officers Fund

Just days before Christmas, three Rochester police officers were shot while protecting our community.

They responded to a call for help, doing what they swore to do – running toward danger so others don't have to. In an instant, their lives and the lives of their families were forever changed. One officer has been treated and released. Two others continue to recover after multiple surgeries. This holiday season, instead of celebration, these families are facing hospital rooms, uncertainty, and long roads to healing.

Stand With Those Who Protect Us

ITALEO is committed to supporting these officers and their families during this difficult time. One hundred percent of all donations go directly to the officers and their families, helping ease financial burdens so they can focus on recovery.

Now is the time to turn gratitude into action. Please consider donating and sharing this message. Together, we can show our support when it matters most.

ITALEO Delivers Awards:

Det. Matt Klein, Officer Chris Shingleton & Det. Mario Correia

Congratulations, gentlemen!

President Franco and Vice President DiFante had the honor of personally delivering the Peacemaker's Award to RPD Officer Chris Shingleton, who was unable to attend the ITALEO Christmas Party after being shot in the line of duty the night before the event. The award presentation served as a meaningful opportunity to recognize Officer Shingleton's courage, service, and dedication.

During the visit, Detective Correia was also presented with his Peacemaker's Award, and Detective Klein joined in the recognition. They all expressed their appreciation for the support and acknowledgment from ITALEO. It was a heartfelt moment that underscored the importance of standing together in support of those who serve and protect our community.

RECIPE CORNER

Italian Panna Cotta

<https://www.marcellaincucina.com/february-2011-daring-bakers-challenge/>

Ingredients

- | | |
|---|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 2½ cups (600ml) heavy cream - See note 1 • ½ cup (120ml) whole full fat milk • ½ cup (100 grams) granulated white sugar • 1 vanilla bean | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • pinch salt • 2 teaspoons unflavored powdered gelatin - See note 2 • 2 tablespoons water |
|---|---|

Instructions

1. Cut the vanilla bean in half and with the back of the knife or a teaspoon scrap out the seeds.
2. Put the vanilla bean and scraped seeds into a medium saucepan with cream, milk, sugar, and salt. Place over medium heat, bring it to just boiling point, stirring to dissolve the sugar. Don't allow the cream and milk mixture to come to a rolling boil. When there are a few simmering bubbles, remove the saucepan from the heat.
3. Cover the saucepan with a lid (to prevent a skin from forming) and let it stand for 5 minutes for the flavors to infuse.
4. While the vanilla bean is infusing into the milk, place the water in a small bowl, sprinkle powdered gelatin over the surface then stir well. Let stand for 5-10 minutes to soften and bloom.
5. Stir the gelatin mixture into the still hot cream/milk and whisk gently until smooth and dissolved. If the gelatin hasn't fully dissolved, return the saucepan to the stove and heat gently over low heat. Stir constantly and don't let the mixture boil.
6. Strain into a 4-cup jug/pitcher to remove the vanilla and any pieces that may have broken off. Place the jug/pitcher in the fridge until it cools completely but doesn't set. Stir now and then so that it doesn't separate.
7. Then pour cream/milk mixture into 8 individual serving glasses.
8. Cover the glasses with plastic wrap and refrigerate for at least 4-6 hours, or until completely set.
9. Serve with fruit and chopped nuts.

Notes

1. The cream should be around 35% butterfat and not contain additives.
2. The gelatin powder used is platinum strength. As a guide, 2 teaspoons will set 2 cups plus 4 teaspoons of liquid (or 2 metric cups/500ml).
